

BIONEXUS

The BioNexus device delivers endogenous frequency therapy.

Endogenous is something that occurs naturally in the body for example cells, proteins, hormones, DNA, RNA etc. BioNexus's voice and body analyser reads electromagnetic signals emitted by the body, modulates them and then sends them back to the body as full spectrum waves. Subsequently, the body receives the precise frequencies needed to initiate the appropriate physiological and mechanical reaction.

Use:

The BioNexus can be used any time of day or night.

It is recommended, if a person is of high energy, not use it in the evening because of the energy boost that can occur, unless this is what the user is trying to achieve.

The BioNexus device should not be used at the same time as any other technologies, it must be used separately.

When using the BioNexus device, you should not carry a Photonic Shield card near the body, it should be removed.

Children can use the device under adult supervision
While having a session you should be in a room on your own, with limited wireless tech.

Key Features:

- Built in voice and body analyser
- Doesn't require updates, connections to wifi or bluetooth.
- You do not need to pick a program from the therapy list
- No updates required

Key Benefits:

- Helps restore cell regeneration and integrity •Helps restore the functions of the organs
- Helps speed up the healing process • Helps with detoxification of the micro circulation
- Helps restore the nervous system •Helps with emotional and psychological state •Helps with memory and thinking skills •Increases and restores internal energy processes
- Helps with a spiritual practices •Restructures water

